K&N's High-Flow Intake System for the Yamaha YXR660 Rhino provides a performance increase of 4.35 hp and 3.5 foot-pounds of torque for the popular Side-By-Side off-road vehicle. To achieve such gains, K&N replaces the stock Yamaha air filter and air box with a complete redesign of the Rhino's intake system that draws air through a reverse-tapered K&N XStream® RX Filter and a powder coated aluminum intake tube. The new intake configuration functions like K&N's world famous car, truck and SUV intake systems, directing a more laminar flow of air to the engine, while the K&N Air Filter increases surface area and filtering capacity. Additional components include a chrome crankcase breather, which allows for cooler air intake; a K&N DryCharger® designed to protect the air filter in extreme conditions; and a carburetor main jet for easy air/fuel mixture tuning. The K&N Rhino Intake System offers guaranteed horsepower and a torque increase that no Rhino owner should live without.
